“Financial literacy provides an important foundation for a new generation of global investors and we are pleased to support the IOSCO WIW 2023 campaign to help promote investor education around the world,” said Thomas P. Gallagher, Chairman and CEO of MIH. “MIH employees actively participate in various financial literacy training programs within our community, including partnering with local schools to provide students with a fundamental understanding of financial information that can help them prepare for their future financial success.”

This marks the fourth consecutive year that IOSCO and the WFE are working in partnership on the ‘Ring the Bell for Financial Literacy’ initiative.

Mr. Gallagher added, “MIH is also expanding its financial literacy efforts in U.S. futures markets through our exclusive sponsorship of the new Futures Discovery video series created by John Lothian News.
