DOLDRUMS FOR THE GRAIN COMPLEX CONTINUES LIVENED UP WITH OCCASIONAL CHOPPY ACTION.

Higher closes for the entire grain complex except rough rice which includes Minneapolis, Kansas City and Chicago wheat along with corn, soybeans, soybean meal and soybean oil. Good stocks remain the issue while grain exports remain decent led mainly by the beans. Since my report last week the grains, excluding the oats which keep moving higher, the grain complex has moved sideways to gradually lower as you can witness by the charts below. Minneapolis continues to look like it's forming a possible large bottom but not KC and Chicago at this time. KC (415 - 445) and Chicago 410 - 445) remain in a trading range albeit this week closer to the lower end of said ranges. Like I've been saying the wheat complex has been in a trading range which really isn't so bad since there aren't any shortages of wheat around the world as far as I know. What I mean is, at least, it hasn't been experiencing any new contract lows for a while now. Oats continue to be in an uptrend culminating in its best high and close since around June 20th. Good support remains below 227 and 190. Rough rice broke down from a bearish looking consolidation pattern making a new CONTRACT LOW AND CLOSE. It should continue to move lower overall. Corn keeps hovering around 350 while having an upside potential around four dollars and support down to the 320's. If corn gets to 400 I wouldn't immediately go short but I will tell you my game plan if and when it gets that high. Right now it has looked topy in the short term but I would only continue to buy breaks and sell rallies while not using any breakout methods at this time. Beans have been drifting lower since late October seemingly trying to bottom overall while the strong dollar and good stocks fight with very good exports for a direction. A close over 1030 is needed in my opinion. Strong looking support remains below. Meal acts like it could be bottoming but it continues to be pulled up by the beans and oil at this time which makes it dangerous to buy on rallies especially. Oil continues correct lower starting to lose some steam but still looks bullish overall. BUY SIGNALS FOR OATS, CORN AND SOYBEAN OIL. SELL SIGNALS FOR MINNEAPOLIS, KANSAS CITY AND CHICAGO WHEAT ALONG WITH ROUGH RICE. For additional charts, quotes, news, commentary & more, sign up for a FREE 30 -day trial to markethead.com.
