GRAINS: 11/18/09 Higher closes yesterday for soybeans, soymeal, soyoil, Minneapolis, Kansas city and Chicago wheat while lower for rough rice, corn and oats. It looks like most of today's action was from spread trading with all of the wheat ( buy signals on Monday) making new recent highs and closes while corn settled unchanged to lower. Rice closed lower now in its last resistance with its KEY REVERSAL from last Wednesday still in tact but being threatened by a long-term up-trend. Oats also settled lower but continuing its overall obvious up-trend. The bean complex also closed higher again off spread trading this time with beans finally giving me a BUY SIGNAL and meal still close. I hold Buy Signals for Minneapolis, Kansas City and Chicago Wheat; along with Corn, Oats and beans.
