GRAINS: 11/25/09 Higher closes yesterday for rough rice, oats, soybeans and soyoil, mixed for soymeal while sharply lower for Minneapolis, Kansas city and Chicago wheat along with corn. All of the wheat continue to be in gradual up-trends overall but ending up sharply lower following through from Monday's action as expected here. Corn also followed through lower as expected after Monday's action like wheat selling off to close near its lows. The four dollar area continues to be the focal point for this grain. Rice closed higher again still in its last resistance with its KEY REVERSAL intact but really acting strong overall. Oats also settled higher but has been making lower highs over the last two weeks while starting to act topy. Still, oats are in a long-term up-trend overall. The beans complex settled higher shrugging off Monday's similar action like the other grains by starting lower but, unlike the other grains, then rallying to close higher. Buy Signals for Minneapolis, Kansas City and Chicago Wheat, Corn, Oats, Soybeans, Meal and Soyoil. Please feel free to contact me for details.

Happy Thanksgiving everyone!
